IS THE HUMAN MIND PREDISPOSED TO RELIGIOUS THOUGHT?

Across cultures, the tenets of various religious beliefs reveal similarities and recurrent patterns. Why does this happen? In this film, Dr. Justin Barrett explores whether and to what degree human minds are blank slates when it comes to religious ideas.

Date published: February 4, 2019

Resource Type: Video, Neuroscience & Psychology

Link: Is the Human Mind Predisposed to Religious Thought?