IS THE HUMAN MIND PREDISPOSED TO RELIGIOUS THOUGHT?

Across cultures, the tenets of various religious beliefs reveal similarities and recurrent patterns. Why does this happen? In this film, Dr. Justin Barrett explores whether and to what degree human minds are blank slates when it comes to religious ideas.

Date published: February 4, 2019
Resource Type: Video, Neuroscience & Psychology
Link: Is the Human Mind Predisposed to Religious Thought?